

PRIVACY POLICY

Your privacy is very important to us. We have put in place measures to ensure that any personal information or data that we obtain from you is processed in accordance with the accepted principles of good information handling.

By using this website you are agreeing to the terms of this Privacy Policy. If you have any queries regarding this policy or complaints about our use of your information, please contact us as directed on this website.

Data Protection

Movement Lifestyle complies with the Data Protection Act 1998 and treats all personal information as private and confidential. We shall only use your name and other information relating to you, that we collect on this website.

We will ensure that your information is accurate and up to date, that we do not keep or store your data for longer than necessary and that appropriate measures are in place to protect the information.

Using your information

If you visit our website, we may collect information when you register with us or become a client of Movement Lifestyle (using one of our products or services) such as your name, e-mail address, postal address, telephone/mobile number, payment card details and bank account details.

We may also collect but not store any of the above information when you make an enquiry. If you contact us we may keep a record of that correspondence.

Third party links

This website contains links to third parties. Please be aware that we are not responsible for the privacy practices or content of those third parties or other sites.

IP addresses

We will not collect IP addresses on our system.

Other than as set out in these Terms of Use or any applicable product terms and conditions, we shall NOT sell or disclose your personal data to third parties without obtaining your prior consent unless this is necessary for the purposes set out in these Terms of Use or unless we are required to do so by law.